

 In April last, the Bank Committee brought our account with the United States Bank before the public, and endeavored to fasten upon the institution the charge of corrupting the Press. We laid a full and frank statement before the public, and even a majority of our enemies admitted the failure of the Committee to establish their point. We were then advocating the re-election of ANDREW JACKSON to the Presidency, and the Washington Globe and Richmond Enquirer, saw nothing improper in the transaction. KENDALL & BLAIR published the reports and documents in the Globe, and RITCHIE filled his Enquirer with them, yet neither of these Patriots could discover any thing in them to call for their condemnation of us or the Bank. But "circumstances alter cases," as we are all taught at School; and now that we have refused to support the re-election of Andrew Jackson, and prefer adhering to the principles which brought him into office but which he has abandoned,—we find these worthies devoting whole columns day after day, to prove the truth of charges which they believed false four months ago!

We are not about to enter into a defense of our right to borrow money from the United States' Bank—that has been done already; but we wish to call the attention of our readers to the fact, that either these editors are now laboring to prove what they believe to be false, or else they knowingly screened our corruption in April, and during the past four months, in order to encourage our support of ANDREW JACKSON! Perhaps they
